TROPHIES, CURiosITIES, HELICS, ANToGRAPhS, etc.

We have received the following from the Committee on Antiques, Topknots, and Curiosities, for the great Fair, and enclose them for your perusal.

Antiques,

This year, in order to promote the sale of the Exchange House Farm, the approaching Fair, and to discourage the visitation of the nation's capital, we have purchased a number of Choice English objects from the best of the London dealers. These antiques are so chosen as to be valuable and desirable, and we are sure that they will not fail to attract the attention of the public. They include a fine collection of china, silver plate, and bronzes, as well as a magnificent set of oriental porcelain. The objects are arranged in a manner that is sure to attract the attention of even the most discriminating connoisseur. We have tried to buy the best, and we believe that we have succeeded. We are sure that our offer to sell these antiques will be eagerly received. We have also arranged for a number of other objects, which we shall be glad to furnish you with, if you will let us know your wishes.

We hope that you will find these objects to your liking, and that you will be pleased to receive them. We are looking forward to your reply with great interest, and we are confident that you will be pleased with our offer.

OUR Mission.

It may seem to many that the war being virtually ended, the necessity for charitable action is no longer as urgent as it was in the past. However, our endeavors are as necessary as ever, and we are determined to continue our support of the war effort until the end. We are committed to providing essential supplies and services to those in need, and we are working tirelessly to ensure that everyone has access to the resources they need to survive.

Unfortunately those notions are false. The scenario of the war is still unfolding, and the needs of those who have suffered and continue to suffer are as great as ever. The arduous task of rebuilding and restoring is far from over, and the work of bringing hope and stability to those in need is ongoing. We are committed to doing our part, and we urge others to join us in this important work.

Our Mission.

It may seem to many that the war being virtually ended, the necessity for charitable action is no longer as urgent as it was in the past. However, our endeavors are as necessary as ever, and we are determined to continue our support of the war effort until the end. We are committed to providing essential supplies and services to those in need, and we are working tirelessly to ensure that everyone has access to the resources they need to survive.

Unfortunately those notions are false. The scenario of the war is still unfolding, and the needs of those who have suffered and continue to suffer are as great as ever. The arduous task of rebuilding and restoring is far from over, and the work of bringing hope and stability to those in need is ongoing. We are committed to doing our part, and we urge others to join us in this important work.

Our Mission.

It may seem to many that the war being virtually ended, the necessity for charitable action is no longer as urgent as it was in the past. However, our endeavors are as necessary as ever, and we are determined to continue our support of the war effort until the end. We are committed to providing essential supplies and services to those in need, and we are working tirelessly to ensure that everyone has access to the resources they need to survive.

Unfortunately those notions are false. The scenario of the war is still unfolding, and the needs of those who have suffered and continue to suffer are as great as ever. The arduous task of rebuilding and restoring is far from over, and the work of bringing hope and stability to those in need is ongoing. We are committed to doing our part, and we urge others to join us in this important work.