Another Soldier Gone

We print below the obituary of Dr. Garver, mention of whose death was given in our last issue. It was the desire of the family that he should be interred in the College Corner cemetery by the side of his wife and postmaster J. C. Douglass was instructed to arrange for the digging of the grave and other preliminaries and draw on them for the amount, but later they got the impression that the College Corner cemetery was in Ohio. This was a mistaken impression as the cemetery is located in Indiana and it is the intention to bring him here yet. The doctor was well known in College Corner and was one of its foremost citizens when he resided here.

Obituary

Dr. Henry Fisher Garver was born at Hamilton, Butler county, Ohio, May 12, 1824; died at Winchester, Ind., September 12, 1902; aged 78 years and four months.

He was a graduate of the Ohio Medical College and was a very successful physician for a number of years, living at College Corner, Ohio, and Billingsville, Ind.. On the 14th of January, 1863, he offered his services to his country and was commissioned Assistant Surgeon of the 19th Regiment Indiana Vols., which he served faithfully until sickness compelled him to resign. He was in charge of a field hospital during the battle of Gettysburg. He was married to Miss Hester A. Richey, October 11, 1847. To them were born three children. He survived all but one son, who resides in Wellington, Kan.. He was a member of the G.A.R. post of Winchester.

After short services by Rev. O. I. Truby, of the Presbyterian church, his comrades laid him to rest in the soldiers plot in Fountain Park Cemetery last Sabbath afternoon. Six members of his regiment served as pall bearers.

Step softly, step gently,
Beside the mossy bed;
Bring laurels, bring roses,
And crown this soldier's head.

Sleep sweetly, sleep silently,
Ye hero true and brave.
While the stars and stripes float
proudly
Each year above this patriot's grave.
