LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

New York, June 7th, 1865.

To Mrs. Maj. Gen. Wm. T. Sherman.

Dear Madame:

We, the undersigned Catholic clergymen, in response to your circular in behalf of the North-western Sanitary Fair, do ourselves the honor of remitting herewith $507, subscribed by ourselves and others at our solicitation, and a list of whose names we enclose.

It was a happy thought, to place the Fair under the auspices of the various churches, both because of the friendly rivalry for the palm of well doing, which is thus likely to be engendered, and more particularly, because the object of relieving our sick and wounded soldiers, and providing permanent homes for the disabled, is clearly such as must ever be cherished wherever and in proportion as the spirit of christianity exists. We rejoice, however, to know that beside this christian philanthropy, a principal object with you is to honor the heroic patriotism of our American soldiers, as exhibited in the war for the Union. This war has had in it so much of the character of a "holy war," as to afford an additional reason why the expression of approval should be made by the people under the banners of their churches. It has been waged for the upholding of the principle of abedience to civil law, to which St. Paul commands every man to be subject, and for the preservation over every portion of its territory of that Government, which is the most humane and beneficent on earth, and moreover, inseparably connected with it, was either the perpetuation or removal of a gigantic wrong, which many good christians may have been induced to apologise for, but which no good christian could have found it in his heart cordially to love.

We take particular pleasure in having this opportunity of expressing our great esteem and respect for yourself, dear madam, and our admiration and gratitude for the immense services to the cause of the Union and humanity, of the illustrious man of whom you are the worthy wife. We remain, dear madam,

Your ob't serv'ts,

REV. THOS. FARRELL,
" SYLVESTER MALONE,
" PATRICK MCCARTHY,
" EDW'D MCGLYNN,
" R. L. BURTSSELL, D.D., and others.

MARRIAGE OF MISS STOWE.

The Hartford (Conn.) Times says;

The youngest daughter of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe was married at St. John's Church, Hartford, on Wednesday morning, to a wealthy Episcopal clergyman from Boston. The church was crowded with the friends of the family—the ladies in full costume and the gentlemen likewise. The bride was beautifully attired in white silk, with a veil of illusion and wreath of orange flowers. Her father and mother stood up with her. Mrs. Stowe was dressed in black silk with white bugles, and wore a white lace hat trimmed with green feathers, and a white lace shawl. A rich carpet was laid from the carriage steps across the sidewalk to the church door, and young men arrayed in bridal favors acted as ushers. The ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. Bishop Clark, of Rhode Island, assisted by Rev. Mr. Doane, rector of St. John's.

THE BABY HOUSE.

The great baby house in Union Hall, of which we have already spoken of several times, continues to be one of the great objects of attraction. There is constantly a large crowd of men, women and children around it who seem never to tire of examining the beauty and perfection of its arrangements. It is one of the most complete things we have ever seen. The price of it is $1000, but as this is almost too large a sum for a person to expend on such an article, though it is well worth it, the ladies have decided on raffling it for that price, the chances being one dollar each. Great interest is being taken in the raffle and chances are being purchased at a rapid rate. Those who intend taking chances had better hurry up or they may be too late.

CHILDREN'S PLAYTHINGS.

"A very slender apparatus for amusement is found to be enough, where children are accustomed, on the one hand, to much active sport abroad, and on the other are intelligently conversed with, at all hours, by their teacher. Munificent grandmothers and affectionate aunts will, spite of remonstrances, continue to be good customers at the toy shop; but those who have actually had to do with children are well aware of the fact that no delight is so brief as that caused by the possession of an elaborate and costly toy; in truth, the pleasure, as to its continuance, seems generally to be in inverse proportion to the sum that has been lavished upon the gift. And often, in consideration of the kind donor's feelings, a little artifice has to be used in order to make it appear that the splendid article has not become an object of indifference or disgust, the very next day after its arrival.

A crooked stick of his own finding—the handle of a broom, the gardner's cast-off pruning knife, or a tin mug without a bottom, and converted to twenty whimsical purposes, day after day, perhaps for weeks, and certainly until after the toy which cost what would have fed a poor family as long, has been consigned to the lumber room."
