The THE GREAT SANITARY FAIR.

DESCRIPTION OF DEPARTMENTS CONTINUED.

We brought our description of the departments in yesterday’s number down to the north end of the fair grounds, leaving the south and west sides for the present. We will continue our description of this hall, of which we have yet to reach the south and west sides, in the papers of the next week. Commingling at the north end, we have the FIRES DEPARTMENT.

Here we find the usual booths where we see the fruit and fruit products, and all other fruits, native and foreign, which can be procured at this season. They are contributed to by the citizens of the city, by the managers of the various fairs, and by the farmers of the district. The north end of the fair ground is entirely given up to the Fires Department.

MINNESOTA DEPARTMENT.

The Minnesota department consists next in order. Here we find the usual booths contributed by the different counties, where we see the houses, the avenues, the parks, the Falls of Minnehaha and other parts of Minnesota. A valuable lot of wheat from this state is shown in this hall, as well as other products, the fruits of the most valuable donations to the fair. The department is managed by Rev. Mr. Eganstone, state superintendent of the Board of Education, and others.

TOMATO AND CHERRY.

We next reach a stall devoted exclusively to tomatoes and cherries, where we see a variety of tomatoes, all in the height of perfection, and in the beginning of the season. The cherry lot, as usual, is the best in the entire fair, and is contributed by the principal dealers of this city, and by A. H. & E. H. Benson, Louisville, Ky., and Dr. Brown, Hard's and Co., Chicago, and others.

SPLENDID EMBRiODERIES.

We next come to a stall occupied by a collecto collection of splendid embroideries, all of which have been allotted a place in Bryan Hall, instead of being sold in the spot they now occupy. They are the work of Mrs. Green, and are the property of Mrs. Green, and are under the charge of Mrs. Green. There is Church’s magnificent engraving, "The History of the American Revolution," and many others, all of which are very fine, but can be purchased for reasonable prices.

FISHING POLE.

In a sort of arbor, enclosed with evergreen mats, is a fishing pole, and a fishing line, and a safe and deep enough to be dangerous, the bottom of which is covered with such sea fish as can be carefully covered with brown paper and tied with string. The line can be thrown up or down the pole, and the angler can then fish, as if he were in the sea, from this small vessel.

THE OLD WARRIORS.

The new part of this department is occupied by the old war eagle of the 8th Wisconsin. He is a noble old bird and is on perch apparently healthy and in good spirits. The eagle was caught in the minnows in Wisconsin by a Chippewa Indian, in July 1861, and presented to this fair by the Indians, which has been reared and trained. He has been all through the war, took part in several battles and was wounded in one of them. The eagle is in good health and in the air, the eagle is a very splendid sport of the air, and not surpassed by anything of the same kind in this country. The eagle is of a beautiful color, and values rapidly. The people of Iowa have done well.

DOMINOES.

The next department of interest is that of the domees of the State. Here we have the usual display of dominoes, which is a popular game of chance, as all is fishing, Miss E. Walker and Miss Mary Brooks are in charge of this department, and are doing well.

GAS FIREFIGHT.

The next stall is occupied by such articles as will be purchased for the purpose of gas-firing the new house. There are gas fixtures, lamps, shades, lamps, pipes, blower, lead, and all other such articles, contributed by the best manufacturers of the country, and are doing well.

FURNITURE DEPARTMENT.

The last department we come to on this side in this hall is the furniture department, which contains many really splendid articles, costly and beautiful, to be purchased by the public.

Tebay & Becker donate a splendid book press, and the last. The amount of furniture on the exhibition is about fifteen thousand dollars. The work is very splendid, and a large sum for the fair. Parker has charge.

ANY SKETCH.—No. 2.

Since our visit to the gallery, the arrangement on the walls remains the same, a marked improvement has been made in the show room. The handsome furniture, as well as the paintings, prevent the reflection and manufacture of cross lights. ‘Nothing more or less a conceit of fashion, forming an art under the sky, leaving the central portion of the room in shade. The pictures, that by their size and number, appear to us in the shape of a column, are by the same artist, the beautiful illumination all in the same color.

To see much paintings cannot be accredited to me, Henry and Velko, who have arranged the pictures with consummate perfection, preserving always, and generally succeeding, in placing the distinctive features of the style of each artist in the prominent and leading position to their own works positions as untouchable that our canvas should rather be of the modesty which keeps with us to maintain the track in hand.

THE DOMINOES.

This is a picture Vazari would have been delighted with. There is a marvelous, and have care for this mystery, the wonderful, wonderful, minute description of painting, the grand manner of painting.

The pictures are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.

The paintings are all in a row, and the one which, by its size, expresses the word "love," is on exhibition. It is a masterly work, and the most prized of all the pictures. The picture is by Mr. Keeler, and is one of the most interesting in the exhibition.