GRAND DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.

Yesterday afternoon one of the grandest depictions of the life of the people of the district in which this city is located, was given in Crosby's Opera House.

All classes of the community have been consultation with the local press and the leaders in the community and the best artists and actors in the country have been engaged to make this a perfect production. The entire cast of characters was selected and each of them was put into the hands of the most capable and experienced actors.

The play was a great success and was received with enthusiasm by all who attended it.

VOICE OF THE FAIR.

An Infamous Art Scandal.

In the main building, I found myself enveloped in surrounding everywhere—what do you think dear reader? Why, no less than a perfect sea of people! A sea that will not fail to see the faces of future husbands, and wives by looking in the place where they will find us. We were not a little amused to see the rush in that direction last night, as soon as the crowd of fair-goers had the feet to the somewhat crowded and so on into the street, away did we see ourselves.

FLORENCE.

In accordance with a general desire and in compliance with an especial request of the "Citizen Committee," Mr. Tiffany will deliver his oration on the" Fair Like No Other," on Monday morning, the 14th of December, at the fair grounds. This will be an opportunity of delivering a fireside talk and we can assure them they will not fail to be amply repaid by the eloquent and touching utterances of our patriotic citizen.

DONATIONS FROM THE TROMBET.

Moses, Davis & Drake, the public-spirited proprietors of the Trombet House, Chicago, have contributed $500 to the fund for the Benefit of the Western Fair. Mr. Davis, who has been a staunch supporter of the Fair, will also make a donation of $100 to the fund. Mr. Davis is a man of large means and is well known for his generous contributions to our city's charities.

New York is governed principally by injustice and corruption. The city is ruled by a group of powerful men who care little for the welfare of the people. The city was once a place of opportunity and progress, but now it is a place of despair and hopelessness.

NOTES OF THE FAIR BUILDINGS, No. 1.

One of the most attractive departments in these buildings is the Horticultural. Albinum is a city of flowers, the city of the flower-growers. Throughout the city there are beautiful gardens and parks, and the Horticultural Department has been given a large space.

The department has been arranged in a scientific manner, with the flowers and plants being classified according to species, and each section being well marked. The arrangements are so well done that even the most critical visitor cannot fail to be impressed.

EATING ARRANGEMENTS.

We have already informed our readers that we can get and enjoy regular meals, morning and noon, at the Ravine Restaurant, the most modern and fashionable restaurant in the fair. This establishment is located at the corner of the Department of the Fair in the Soldiers' Home building. Everything is served up in good old style, and you can have as much as you can eat, at any time of the day and get anything you want. It's better to eat at your appetite, and be at the Ravine Restaurant. The Ravine Restaurant is the most elegantly arranged at the Randolph street end of the Horticultural building, near the Michigan Avenue entrance. Here Mr. John Wright has charge of a rosy and well-tiled dining room, furnished for the benefit of the Fair. Mr. Wright, who is an experienced caterer to the human appetite, and his capable and able staff, will set you at ease and serve you a meal as you desire. Eat the hungry and the epicure go to the Restaurant, and do justice to good things.
